

Annapolis Sailing Logistics

I. Getting Here.

- a. By Land Tips.
 - 1. From the North, use the Eastern Shore to avoid I-95 traffic and tolls.
 - 2. From the South, use I-495 (Capital Beltway) and avoid downtown Washington DC. The worst rush hour traffic is 6-9 AM and 3-6PM.
 - 3. Crew. There is an AMTRAK station at BWI airport about 20 min. from Annapolis.
- b. By Sea.
 - 1. From North. Cape May – Delaware Bay - Chesapeake & Delaware Canal (C&D) – Chesapeake Bay – Annapolis.
 - a. Cape May. Go thru Cape May cut (make sure you have a good chart because it gets tricky on the Delaware Bay side).
 - b. C&D Canal. The current thru the canal is 2.5-3 kts so time your arrival so the current goes with you. There is only one height restriction on the canal, a train draw bridge located about 3 miles west of St. Georges. The bridge is usually up except for passing train traffic. Schaeffer's restaurant at Chesapeake City is a good stopping point for food, fuel, overnight stay (410) 885-2200.
 - 2. From South. Beware of fish traps especially at night. There are fishing nets anchored by wooden poles with a steel cable top line. They range from 200 to 800 yards long and are generally perpendicular to the shore. They are typically close to the shore and are not on listed on charts.
- c. By Air
 - 1. Baltimore Washington Airport (BWI) 30 minutes drive time
 - 2. Dulles International (IAD) 1.5 hour drive time
 - 3. Reagan National Airport (DCA) 1 hour drive time
